Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 21 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Windy with outbreaks of rain.

Today:
A cloudy day across the region with outbreaks of rain, these heavy at times on the hills. Feeling increasingly chilly later as winds strengthen from the northeast. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying cloudy and windy at times overnight with further rain at times, but this increasingly confined to eastern parts by Saturday morning. Misty across the hills. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Saturday:
Another rather cloudy day with a few mainly light showers, but some brighter intervals developing in the afternoon. Windy in coastal areas during the morning. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Showers developing on Sunday, with more persistent and heavier rain later. Bright or sunny intervals and occasional showers on Monday, and a few showers on Tuesday. Feeling cool throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.